

Early Glimpses of the Atlas of Global Christianity

featuring a special, pre-publication offer

Scheduled for release by Edinburgh University Press in November 2009, the 380-page, full-color Atlas of Global Christianity is a visual quick-reference of the changing status of global Christianity over the 100 years since the epoch-making Edinburgh 1910 World Missionary Conference. Edited by Todd M. Johnson (Center for the Study of Global Christianity, Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary) and Kenneth R. Ross (Church of Scotland World Mission Council), this is the first scholarly atlas to depict the twentieth-century shift of Christianity's center of gravity from the Global North to the Global South.

It is also the first atlas to incorporate historical essays on Christianity 1910-2010 by scholars from each region of the world. The atlas covers every Christian tradition: Anglicans, Independents, Marginals, Orthodox, Protestants, Evangelicals, Pentecostals and Roman Catholics. Contextual information on world issues and world religions is included, as is an interactive CD that contains all maps and graphs ready for presentation.

For full-size, full-color representations of the atlas, see www.globalchristianity.org. The next page of this issue of IJFM explains how, for a limited time, IJFM readers can take advantage of a special, pre-publication offer of the atlas at a major discount.
